New Coronavirus Information for our trust clients

In Switzerland, the number of corona infections is increasing rapidly. The Federal Council has classified the situation in Switzerland as an “extraordinary situation” and has taken the following measures to protect the health of the population:

- All shops, restaurants, bars and entertainment and leisure facilities will remain closed. Not affected by the new ruling are food stores and healthcare institutions.
- Mobilisation of up to 8000 military personnel for health, logistics and security
- Ban on classroom teaching at all educational establishments
- All public and private events are prohibited
- Gatherings of more than five persons are prohibited
- Temporary standstill in debt collection
- Authorisation requirement for the export of medical protective equipment
- All persons from abroad, with the exception of the Principality of Liechtenstein, are refused entry to Switzerland by land and air (Exceptions are possible, for example for people who live or work in Switzerland.)
- ban on visiting hospitals, old people’s homes, nursing homes and invalidity facilities (Canton of Zurich)

Impact on the economy

The appearance of the coronavirus and the protective measures taken by the authorities as a result trigger supply bottlenecks and a drop in demand, which can lead to work stoppages. As an entrepreneur, you are particularly challenged to counteract the short and long-term effects of this situation.

Due diligence

As an employer, you must do everything in your duty of care to minimize the risk of infection for your employees. To this end, please observe the recommendations of the Federal Office of Public Health: <https://www.bag.admin.ch>

Short-time work as a result of the coronavirus

If your company is affected by a drop in demand and loss of working hours in connection with the appearance of the coronavirus, you have the option of registering for short-time working at the Office of Economic and Labour Affairs. <https://awa.zh.ch>
